GHOSTBUSTERS LA 2

Scene: at Carmine's Fine Italian Cuisine

NPCs: Carmine Bugliosi, owner, Maria Acapella, waitress, Juan Garcia, chef's assistant.

There were a couple hipsters here, but they left, and then a pizza animated, as well as several dishes of Baked Ziti.

- They don't know who the Hipsters were, but they get Hipsters here often, as they have a 2 star review in Hipster-Yelp.com.
- They didn't see which way they went.

News Intervlude: A tractor trailer from Florentyna's Fresh Pasta Factory (1864 E 22nd LA). Has been stolen – it was full. Two hipsters were seen casing the truck before it was stolen.

Scene: at Abondanza! Pizzeria (this scene can be skipped for time)

Owner called in with a report of "animated dough."

- The ghosts are gone when the players get there.
- There were several dishes of lasagna floating.
- If the party asks about Hipsters – yes, there were several here before the lasagna started floating.

Threat Interlude: A note tied to a green synthetic brick (the brick says: "This brick was made from 100% post-consumer waste.")

The note says: "He is coming. Nothing you can do will stop Him. None can resist the touch of His Noodly Appendage. He will bring our nirvana – an Italian restaurant with decent food and no middle class bourgeoisie customers."

Chase: to Poobah's Used Record Store! (this scene can be skipped for time)

This is a standard chase – the party can chase a hipster on a Vespa. If he evades them, he will head to Poobah Records, where he will run in, and be lost in a sea of hipsters.

Otherwise he is carrying a flyer for a free spaghetti dinner at an Italian sauce factory in Vernon (if the party can't catch him, they can find a flyer at Poohab Records).

Scene: Maria's Italiano Authentico

This is a very high end Italian restaurant.

The place looks like a pizza exploded. Two hipsters came in and convinced the owner to try their new tomato paste ("Super Excellent Tomato Paste" made at a Italian sauce factory in Vernon). There are several cans there – and they all have really high PK readings.

Scene: at the Tomato Paste Factory

Dozens of hipsters a baked ziti and a flying spaghetti monster.

The FSM is actually in the building – he's already been summoned.

There will be some dark shit here. The hipsters are making their Italian sauce out of indigents. The inside of the building is an abotoir – piles of heads, blood everywhere. The act of cannibalism is needed to bring the FSM (who is an aspect of some dark god) to Earth.
